DISREGARDING STATE REQUIREMENTS.

Nevada today enjoys the distinction of being the only state in the union without a legal secretary of state, state treasurer and attorney general, despite the fact that warrants for salary are cashed monthly by pseudo officials. This may seem to be an unusual state of affairs, but nevertheless it is true.

When Nevada was given statehood in 1864, a constitution was drawn up, submitted to the people and adopted. The following original clause taken from Article 1791, section 10, of Cutting's compiled laws, is self-explanatory:

"The governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, state controller, state treasurer, attorney general, and surveyor general shall be chosen at the general election of the year eighteen hundred and sixty-six, and every fourth year thereafter, and shall hold their office for the term of four years from the time of their installment, and until their successors shall be qualified, and all of said officers, excepting the surveyor general, SHALL KEEP THEIR OFFICE AND RESIDE AT THE SEAT OF GOVERNMENT."

In 1906 at the annual election W. G. Douglass was elected secretary of state, D. M. Ryan was elected state treasurer and R. C. Stoddard attorney general. Since that date the above named gentlemen have not seen fit to take up their residence in Carson, the two former residing in Virginia City and the attorney general in Reno. Of course a monthly visit is made to the capitol, for a pay day is even appreciated by the humblest laborer, but generally well paid deputies transact the business which does not require the attention of the chiefs. The state constitution is ignored and with the act of the late lamented legislature raising the salaries of the deputy secretary of state and the deputy attorney general, so that competent men can be employed, why should the state officers visit Carson when they can spend their time elsewhere at a profit?

The secretary of state receives $1800 per annum. The state treasurer receives the same sum and the attorney general $4000.

Now it is probable that the gentlemen in question have but little use for the office to which they were elected and have decided that the compensation will not justify their residing in Carson the 365 days in the year, when twelve days will suffice. Or it may be that private affairs come first and state business afterwards and with the well paid deputies there is no need for worryment.

It would not be a bad idea for the state controller to delve a little bit into the constitution of Nevada before he issues the next salary warrants, which should be held up until the requirements of office are complied with.

And at that it is rumored that Douglass, Ryan and Stoddard will ask for re-election next fall. With their splendid record to point to, the gentlemen should have little trouble—in being defeated.

HELP THOSE WHO HELP YOU.

The following editorial from the Carson News may furnish a little food for thought by several local merchants, as there are a few business houses in this city which, in the past, have made it a practice to send out of town for their printing. Comment is unnecessary as the article is self-explanatory:

Kalamazoo, in Michigan, has entered into competition with the printers in Nevada and has been brought into the field by "dollar for dollar" Frank Golden.

The Golden Jewelry company of Carson City has flooded this section with advertising matter purchased from the Merchants Publishing company of Kalamazoo, Mich., and is asking the people through this medium to come and purchase from their store.

The Golden Jewelry store wants the people to trade with them but they believe in sending away for their stuff, so why should not the people do it also?

There are two printing houses in the city of Carson and both do good work, yet the firm that Frank Golden heads sends to an outside town to have its printing done. The printing done in the city of Carson by the printing offices is done by union men and the work bears the union imprint, but the work turned out from the house in Kalamazoo bears no union label. Do the people think of such things when they are seeking gifts? If not, think of it now. The press of Carson is working for Carson and needs the support of Carson, and what does the printing house of Kalamazoo do for the city?

Perhaps the printing houses in Michigan will obey the mandates of Frank Golden when he tries to smother the truth and the News refuses to wear his collar and he subsequently sends to Kalamazoo for the work.

The News has already told Frank Golden that it does not care for his work if it has to be dictated to by him to hold it, but there are other printing plants in the state of Nevada besides the ones in Carson and if the head of the Golden firm feels that because the truth has been told about him in the city of Carson that he should not patronize its printing houses, then why not send to the Reno Journal, the Nevada Press, the Goldfield News, the Tonopah Bonanza or any other paper in the state, but not to Kalamazoo in Michigan.

There are no ads of the firms dominated by Frank Golden appearing in the News. Once they appeared in its columns but they were taken out when its editor refused to bow the knee to Frank Golden, and since that day business has been just as brisk, the meals came just as regularly, sleep has been as sweet and we have been able to hold our heads up among our fellow men with no stain upon our throats of the collar of Frank Golden.

Frank Golden is doing business in this city for the money that is in it and when he needs something that can be furnished within the state he turns his back upon the people who are his patrons and sends to Kalamazoo, in Michigan.

Purchasers, when you receive through the mail one of the "Carson City Holiday Messengers, Published by the Frank Golden Jewelry Company," read thereon "Merchants Publishing Company, Kalamazoo, Michigan."

Then think: "Shall I patronize a firm that does not aid in building up the town?" We know your answer.

WORK CONTINUES AT ELLENDALE IN SPITE OF COLD

ZEB KENDALL IS CROSSCUTTING IN SHAFT TO TAP LEDGE

Zeb Kendall came in from Ellendale yesterday on a several days' visit to secure supplies to carry on the work at his lease. He stated last evening that he was confining his operations to crosscutting from the bottom of a 70-foot shaft, with the intention of encountering a ledge that shows on the surface. This ledge gives excellent pinnings in gold and it is possible that with the depth of the crosscut, the values will have become richer. The crosscut is being driven on in toward the hill and a depth of probably 75 or 80 feet will be attended when the ledge is found.

Work is still being conducted on the other properties in the district. Cooper and Nagle continue to sack ore from their lease and will soon be in a position to make their first shipment.

BRIEFS FROM DISTRICT COURT HAPPENINGS

YESTERDAY'S DOINGS IN THE FIFTH JUDICIAL DISTRICT COURT

Yesterday in the district court Judge Averill settled a number of minor cases.

The petition for distribution in the estate of Herman Kah, was granted, and the estate settled. Clement L. Milward, the administrator, was discharged.

A petition for distribution in the estate of Frank Gillispie was also granted and the estate ordered settled. Lowell Daniels, the administrator, was discharged.

The court handed down a decision in favor of the plaintiff in the case of Warren V. Richardson versus the Round Mountain and Smoky Valley Gold Mining company. The suit was brought to recover payment for the surveying of claims for an application for patent.

Lady Macabees sheet and pillow case dance will be given at Miners' Exchange hall Wednesday evening, December 15. Door prize given. Sheets can be rented at the hall.

ONLY THE BEST AT THE BUTLER

A very good crowd attended the Butler last night and witnessed a swell show. Five pictures were shown and the singing of Miss Hoffman was well received. The program for tonight will be entirely changed—new songs by Miss Hoffman and new pictures. It is the intention of the management to change the program each evening except Sunday, and nothing but the best will be shown. The following is the program for this popular place of amusement tonight: "The Love Hunter," comic; "Grotesque Mixup," comic; "The Gambler," dramatic; and the feature film, "The Light That Came," dramatic. This program is on for tonight only, with an entire change tomorrow night.

JACK LONGSTREET SELLS GEORGES CANYON PROPERTY

Jack Longstreet, who came in several days ago from his mining property near Georges Canyon, reported yesterday that he had completed a deal whereby eastern people took over his interests for a cash consideration of $80,000. Mr. Longstreet also receives a block of stock in the property, which will be incorporated.
